

SEVEN PARTICIPANTS PASS SERVSAFE EXAM!

Seven participants in our Food Arts Program graduated not only their training, but also obtained a ServSafe certificate. This will greatly benefit them as they start looking for jobs in food services.

The ServSafe® Food Handler Program is developed by the National Restaurant Association to address the growing food safety concerns of consumers for the food service staff that serve them. It provides the resources to help keep food safety as an essential ingredient in every meal. Restaurants value cooks with a ServSafe qualification as they help prevent food borne illness in the meals they serve. Chef Nick will start a new session on ServSafe on 5/20/2019.

On site interviews Colonial Maintenance

One of our partner employers, Colonial Maintenance, conducted on site interviews with four participants in the commercial cleaning program. One was hired on the spot and is doing an amazing job. We're looking to arrange additional on-site interviews.

Participants hired by Encore, Amazon

17 participants found a job last month! They've been actively searching for jobs in Job Club, in their own time, and with help of our Placement Specialists. Amazon and Encore were among the organizations hiring our participants. Congratulations to all!
